PITCH 31: SETBACK CARD GAME

The Pitch you grew up on, with the Jokers and the Off-Jack, for iPhone and iPad. A partner and two opponents whenever you want a game.

I built Pitch 31 for my grandmother. Pitch, the 31-point partnership card game with Jokers, has been played at our family table for decades. After my grandfather died her foursome was gone, and her hands could no longer shuffle or hold the cards. Pitch 31 gives her a partner and two opponents who play the real family rules, whenever she wants.

This fall I rebuilt the game. 2.0 is a new table: cards struck in metal foil that catch the light as you tilt the phone, a leather pad on green glass, cards big enough to read at arm's length, a guided first hand, and computer partners retuned rule by rule, each change tested over 20,000 simulated games. Stuck with a partner who overbids? Fire them and pick another off the bench. 2.0.1 adds the fixes from playing it every night.

Everyone's first game of the day is the same deal, so a family can play apart and compare hands at dinner.
